Journal of Technology and Innovation (JTIN)

Editorial

The Journal of Technology and Innovation (JTIN) is an international academic journal with a core focus on science, engineering, and technology. Based on an interdisciplinary approach, JTIN is devoted to the promotion of technology research and development in multiple sectors. The journal also serves as a platform for reporting on the latest research findings and exchange of best practices among the global community of scholars and researchers. With an emphasis on the role of innovation in driving technological advances and breakthroughs, the journal presents the latest research on the associated processes and implications of outputs on the wider society.
